Condition of Food-Supply Furnished By Employers of Prisoners of War.
(This is to certify that this is an exact excerpt from documents in the custody of this Bureau)

On the 1st day of July, 1947.

/s/ NAKANISHI Sakayoshi(seal)

Acting Director-General of the Prisoner of War Intelligence Bureau.

1. Ashibetsu Mine of the Mitsui Mining Company. (Ashibetsu,

A. Food-supply, even though not requested, was made on the spot according to circumstances.

B. An area of about five cho (T.N. 12,25 acres) of the company's land was used for the cultivation of buckwheat, pumpkins, potatoes, etc. During the cultivation two bales of buckwheat seeds, ten bales of potato and other seeds were supplied to the POW's. In order that the prisoners of war might be saved from overwork at the time of cultivation, the head of the detachment camp, at his own discretion, asked for the loan of horses, which request was acceded to. In order to keep a horse in the prisoners' camp for their future use the purchase of one was under way (S B 12--2)

2. The KAMIISO works of the Asano Cement Company, Ltd. (Hakodate)

Every month cereals were requisitioned. Three or four bales were apportioned every month from the special ration for labourers. To night workers supply of food of one "go" (TW:018039 litres) per capita was made every day. In addition for them to eat between meals were provided bread, potatoes and other available commodities whenever possible.

3. The Asano Dock of the Nippon Yokan Company, Ltd. (Kanagawa ward, Yokohama City).

Requests were made by the successive chiefs of the prisoner-of-war camp regarding the supply of provisions. Despite the fact that the acquisition of commodities was then exceedingly difficult, the company used to supply at the beginning one bowl of Japanese noodles per person at luncheon time when, however, the stock of noodles was exhausted, the company supplied dried biscuits or other foodstuffs instead. When the general food situation in the country became worse as a result of the shortage in staple commodities and the acquisition of staples in this manner became utterly impossible, the company bought vegetables etc. as a substitute for the staple food supplied by the company and supplied them to the prisoners. Furthermore, considering the physical characteristics of Europeans and Americans, the company supplied the prisoners with tea, tobacco, salt and vegetables of the season as a luxury in addition to the supply of cattle blood and offal meats etc. (S B / 14).

4. The Hitachi Mine Office of the Nippon Mining Industry Company Ltd. (Hitachi Machi, Ibaragi Prefecture).

With the request that the supply of food for night workers should be 140 grammes of rice or barley per day per capita, and that in case substitutes were supplied, the volume should be doubled, the company complied and distributed the foodstuffs for one month once each month. (SE/14).

5. The Tsurumi Aircraft Factory of the Nisshin Flour Company, (Yokohama City).

(d) Because of the principal activity of the company being in the foodstuffs industry, the company supplied 10 to 15 bales of flour reserved for research every month, and bread, fat, salt, etc. at times, at the company's expense in addition to the supply by the military. So the quantity and quality of the food were superior to those of the average Japanese people at the time and were considered to be sufficient to maintain the health of the prisoners of war.

(e) The military and the officials of the detachment camp were eager to collect foodstuffs, and as for the shortage of vegetables was concerned, by renting adjacent land of several hundred tsubo owned by the Nippon Electric Distributing Company, they put the prisoners of war to individual work on its cultivation in their spare time so as to raise a supplementary vegetable supply. According to the wishes of the military, the company at times also distributed special purchases to the P.O.W.'s at the company's expense. (SB/14)

6. The Ohmi Factory of the Electric Chemical Industry Company, (Ohmi Cho, Niigata Prefecture).
A. The quality of foodstuffs supplied was according to military regulations and it was cooked by the P.O.W.'s under the supervision and according to the memos the military for their own meals.

For the purpose of giving nutrition to the P.O.W., cattle, pigs, goats, etc. were purchased once a month at blackmarket prices and were secretly butchered for the P.O.W.'s diet. The difference between the officially fixed prices and the blackmarket price was borne by the employer. In addition to the above, a lot of fruit, tomatoes, etc. was supplied.

At the work shop, a food supply section was set up in the factory, and baked bread was supplied as follows in addition to the food provided by the military:

- a. 2 pieces (equivalent to 1.5 go rice) for night workers.
- b. 1 piece (equivalent to 1 go rice) for daytime workers.
- c. Salt and 'miso' for furnace workers. (WB--7).

7. The Naoetsu Factory of the Shinetsu Chemical Industry Company, Ltd. (Naoetau).

The employers were frequently called together and vegetables, fish were requested. The factory, therefore, supplied them to the fullest extent. The total cost of this supply amounted to ¥13,192.00. Besides the above, when vegetables were scarce in June, July and August, 1945, the factory supplied them by its own efforts.

From September, 1944 to August 15, 1945, 200 gramme rice balls were regularly supplied by the factory.

As the nutritional supply of food by the factory was as follows:

Bouillon--from September, 1944 to August, 1945.

Fruit --apples, persimmons, tangerines etc. according to the season. (SE--14)

8. The Ohmi Factory of the Electro Chemical Industry Company. (Ohmi Machi, Niigata Prefecture).
(a) The military and the employer exerted themselves in concert on the supply of food for the P.O.W.'s.
(b) Setting up a food supply section in the factory,

DRF. DOC. #1998

the employer supplied baked bread as an extra meal as follows:

- (1) 2 pieces (1,5 go rice) to night workers,
 - (2) 1 piece (1 go rice) to daytime workers,
 - (3) Salt and 'also' to the electric furnace workers.
- (C) Besides giving commendation allowance for good behavior to P.O.W.'s once a month, the followings were supplied in addition:
- (1) Tobacco, fruit etc. (presented by the employer)
 - (2) Milk, meat, beef, eggs, vegetables, potatoes, etc. as subsidiary articles of diet. (SB--14).

9. The Toyama Refining Mill of the Japan Soda Company, Ltd. (Toyama City).

3. In compliance with the request by NFGISHI, the chief of the detachment camp, the factory provided the following supplies: (The following were provided by the factory in addition to the rations provided by the military).

Cucumber	50 kan (About 416.5 lbs.)	Cabbage	30 kan (250 lbs.)
Radishes	50 " (416.5 lbs.)	Spinach	15 " (125 lbs.)
Turnips	30 " (250 lbs.)	Hakusai	60 " (499.8 lbs.)
Taisai (Japanese cabbage)	30 " (250 lbs.)	Rebriginated vegetable	120 " (1000 lbs.)
Sea weed	30 " (250 lbs.)	Potatoes	250 " (2500 lbs.)
Apple	40 " (333.2 lbs.)	Salt	60 kg.
Soy	2 to (Abt. 8.9 gallon)	Miso	20 kan (166.6 lbs.)
Cuttlefish	63 kan (525 lbs.)	Herring	21 " (174.6 lbs.)
Mackerel	28 " (232.4 lbs.)	File-fish	63 " (525 lbs.)
Pork	30 " (250 lbs.)	Fish assorted	60 " (499.8 lbs.)

(SB--15)

10. The Japan Coach Manufacturing Company, Ltd. (Nagoya City).

3. The company was asked to make a supplementary supply of 500 calories per day. So the company set up special installations and a dining hall and carried out the supplementary food supply of 300 calories per day, having the food cooked by the P.O.W.'s Special attention was paid to the supply of fast: (SB--15).

DEF. DOC. #1998

11. The Ikuno Mine of the Mitsubishi Company. (Ikuno Machi, Hyogo Prefecture).

3. Complying with the request by the Chief of the detachment camp, the following provisions were supplied:

30 bales of flour (each containing 22kg.)

5 " of refined sugar (each containing of 10 kan or about 83.3 lbs.)

95 kan (about 791 lbs.) of fresh fish.

460 cans of the "20th Century" Brand Pears.

10 bales of dried pupa (each containing 10 kan or about 83.3 lbs.)

200 kan (about 1,666.6 lbs.)

482 bottles of Beer

400 cases of "Kanto-gen", compound etc. (SB--16)

12. The Hidachi Chikko Shipbuilding Yard. (Osaka City)

7. The supply of despatched P.O.W.'s

(g) As a food supplement the company supplied beef bones, whale, etc. at the company's expense. Furthermore, at the workshop of the company, pan cakes hash etc. were served for the P.O.W.'s.

13. The TOBISHIMA-Gumi Company, Ltd.

(a) In the matter of food for the P.O.W.'s the company was asked by the Chief of the detachment camp and the officials of the P.O.W. camp to make additional supplies of food. In view of the importance of the guidance and the labour of the P.O.W.s according to the principles of the Chief of the P.O.W. Camp and the Chief of the Detachment Camp, the company spared no pains to co-operate with the authorities and not only made every effort to obtain materials locally but also supplied a part of provisions which the company received as a special ration for Japanese workers.

(b) Table of additional food supply.

I. The condition of staple food supply by period.

- A. From December, 1942 to October 20, 1943.

Rice (1.2 go per head) cooked with vegetables.

Quantities of staple materials.

Rice	12,388 kgs.
------	-------------

Vegetables	8,200 kgs.
------------	------------

- B. From October 21, 1943 to January 23, 1944.

Large loaf of bread (one per head) and fish and vegetable soup.

Quantities of staple materials:

Large loaf of bread 12,316 loaves

Vegetables 1,650 kg.

- C. From January 24, 1944 to April 30, 1944.

Since October 21, 1943, about one month after the company received the first allotment of P.O.W.'s though the company executed the following matters in accordance with the request of 1st Lt. Hama, the Chief of the Detachment camp, it was exceedingly difficult to comply with the request made by the chief of the detachment camp, owing to the depressed situation of food supply at that time.

1. A soup containing 200 grammes of vegetable and some fish bones and fish meat was supplied at the working place at luncheon every day. When the operation efficiency progressed, a hash containing 200 grammes of vegetable and 70 grammes of rice was supplied when the operation was finished in order to renew the strength of the POW's.
2. In view of water-front stevedoring being hard labour, 8 go of soya-beans per head per day were supplied to those who attended unloading or loading work.
3. When the P.O.W.'s worked by day and night shift in the refinery one to two pieces of bread (each weighing 75 grammes) were supplied daily to those who worked at night.
4. After February, 1944, in order to increase calories, blood intestines and bones of 10 head of cattle per month if it was not available those of head of 3 cattle per month, averaging 7 head a month were supplied.
5. Besides the above, fish meals, fresh fish, salted dried fish, spices and peppers, fruit, etc. were supplied at times.

The condiments required for the cooking of the above supply (miso, soy, salt, etc.) fish and other materials were supplied even by the reduction of the general employees' rationed materials all of which amounted to more than what for the company's employees. As a result the company was bitterly criticized not only by its employees but by the people, both official and civil of the locality. (SB--16)

15. The Innoshima Dockyard of the Hidachi Shipbuilding Company, Ltd.

- (a) In accordance with the request made by Captain NOMOTO, the chief of the detachment camp, the company arranged to supply the additional rice ration (240 grammes per day), which was supposed to be supplied to those general employees who worked more than four hours overtime, to those P.O.W.'s who worked only eight hours of daily labour.

DEF. DOC. #1998

(b) As requested by Captain NOMOTO, the chief of the detachment camp, a large amount of tangerines and sweet potatoes were supplied as special supplementary provisions because the locality was noted for these products.

(c) In compliance with the request of Captain NOMOTO, the chief of the camp, the P.O.W. Dormitory was placed on separate accounting outside the normal company ration so that it could purchase extra goods.

(d) Complying with the request of Captain NOMOTO, the chief of the camp, the company bought a boat, and fishing around the nearby shores exerted itself to acquire fresh foods. (SB--17)

16. The Kanmon Area Harbour Transportation Association.

In the case of F.C.W.'s engaged in stevedoring works, the responsible party supplied a rice-ball of 200 grammes as tiffin and 3 additional cigarettes. (Should the work last long, additional food and cigarettes were supplied). (WB--16)

17. The Kita-Matsuura Coal Mine of the SUMITOMO Senryu Mining Company.

In addition to the supply by the military, the mine supplied one go of flour per day. Besides the above, the mine supplied tangerines. (WB--16).
